

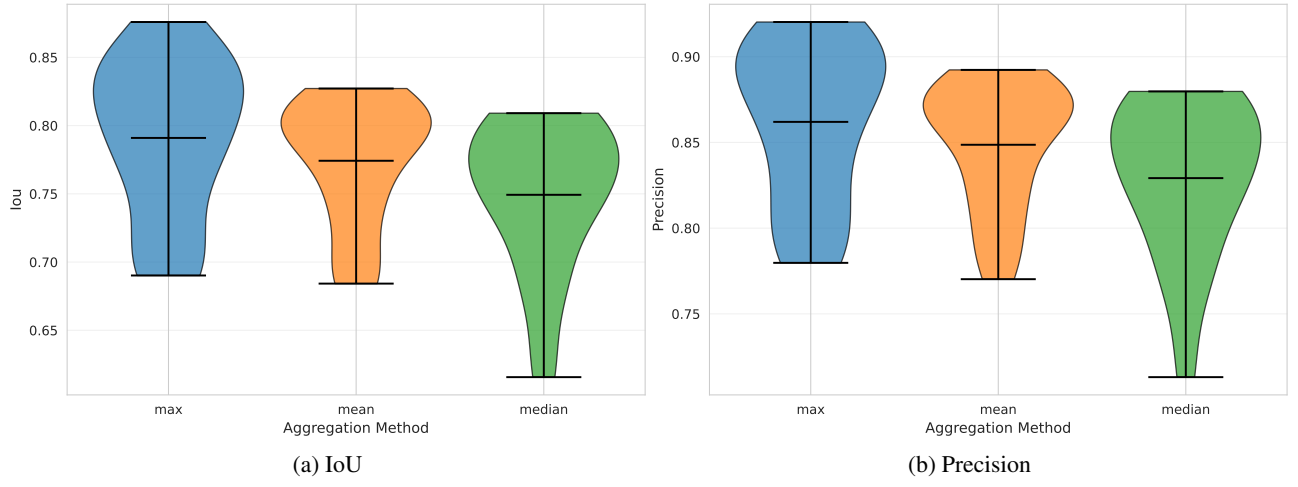

Figure 2: Comparison of aggregation method results for Causal Effect. The values are calculated across all classification models, for all datasets in the node classification task.

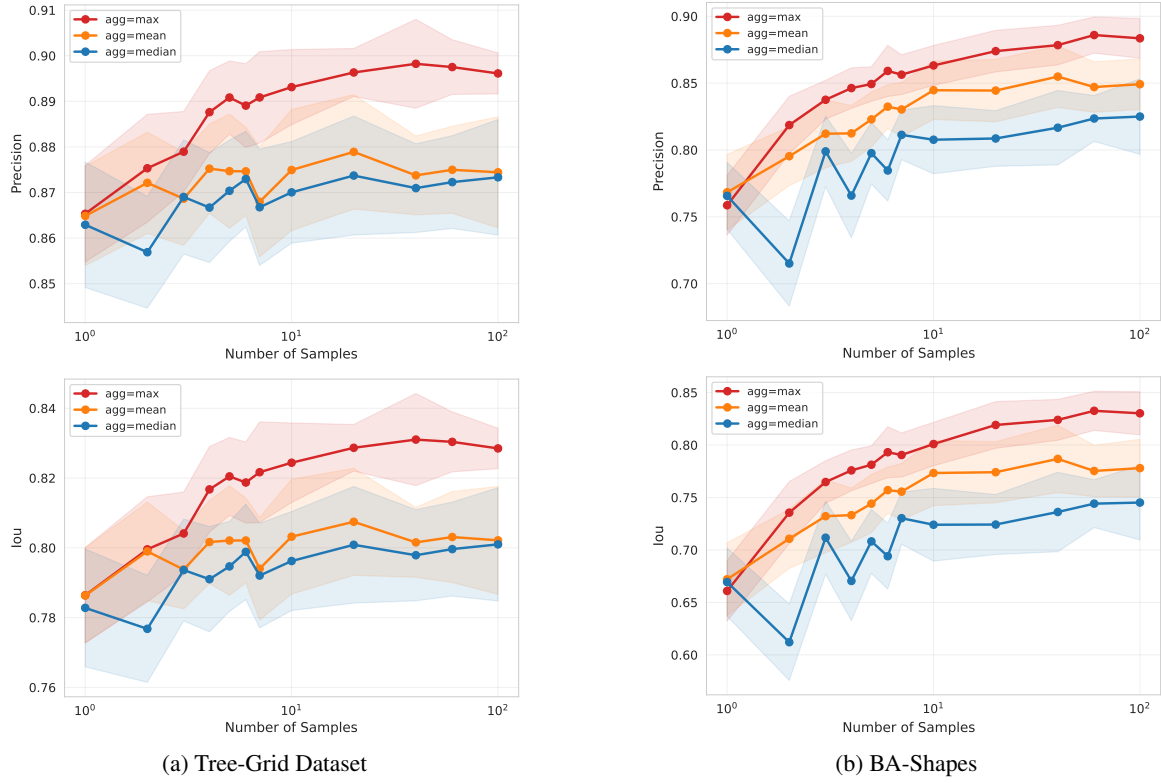

Figure 3: Comparison of aggregation method results for Causal Effect. The values are calculated across all classification models, for all datasets in the node classification task.